A Record of Three
Happy Years Spent
by the Graduates of
Central High School
Memphis, Tennessee

Foreword

*I*n the years to come when Central is but a dim light on your horizon, may this book be a tender memory of your sweetest days, and friendships, lighting up the paths of yesteryear and the happy days you spent at Central High.

The Faculty

To us, the graduates one of our saddest partings will be to the faculty. Without their help our past years here at Central would be meaningless.

They have been our patient confidents, our "school mothers". Our successes, our failures, our joys, our sorrows, were all theirs as much as ours. The many times that we were in the wrong were forgotten by them as one small right was accomplished.

To them the entire senior class express thanks from the bottom of their hearts. In the coming years the faculty's place in our Central memories will be the highest, and their consideration, coopération, and companionship will never be forgotten.

Miss Cohen—

How can we thank Miss Cohen, our class advisor, for the time and effort she has given us? What is in our hearts toward her is unable to be spoken. She has been the person to whom we have brought our "senior troubles" all year. Her patience and understanding will always be remembered by us.

Mr. Hawke—

Mr. Hawke has worked untiringly these past months for the seniors. Even if our voices were extra bad some days, even if we were extra bad, Mr. Hawke still worked on. We are indeed appreciative and grateful to him, and his help deserves more thanks than we can ever give.

Dedication

Miss Dorothy Nolan

Miss Rosa Levy

Miss Mamie Reiter

We, the Senior Class of 1939, gratefully and affectionately dedicate the Senior Edition of the Warrior to them for their untiring efforts, co-operation and support.

Our Principal

MR. CHARLES P. JESTER

The help of one person stands out in 1939 senior history—our principal, Mr. Jester. His efforts, co-operation, and kindness have been given to us unselfishly, and the entire class wish to express their thanks and best wishes to him. May he continue his good cheer and happiness to the graduating classes of the future.

Warrior Staff

Class History

Wide-eyed, gaping, green, three hundred and fifty lost individuals stood in the hallowed corridors of Central High three years ago, and wondered why they, so recently graduates, would be feeling so pitifully small and unimportant. That embarrassed group of freshmen was none other than the illustrious Senior Class of 1939!

A change of attitude came over those scared freshmen after the first few weeks; they began to feel their oats, began to learn the tricks of the trade, and it wasn't long before they knew what the score was. Why shouldn't they catch on quickly—weren't they going to be the best class ever to graduate from Central High?

Now they knew the ropes. Now they were infinitely more important. Wasn't one of their own number an indispensable member of the football team? Weren't two of their fellow-classmates officers of the student government? Weren't they all busy presiding at club meetings, participating in tournaments, taking an active and important place in school affairs? Weren't they to be seniors the very next year—the graduating class of 1939? They were the body of the school. They were the class in the middle—with one behind to push, and one ahead to pull. They looked with pity and understanding on the lowly freshmen; they looked with tolerance and secret and envy on the senior class, who had ceased to be revered deity, and had miraculously been transformed into some of their most intimate friends. With the close of school that junior year, the class of 1939 was exalted, sensing the excitement of the heavy responsibility that would rest on their capable shoulders the following year.

Busy, important, respected, three hundred and fifty confident upper-classmen rush through the well-known halls of Central High and wonder why they should be feeling sorrowful and reluctant to say farewell.

They may not be aware of it, but there is a reason for their feeling of sadness—there are many reasons, not the least of which is the enjoyment of the last three years together. Playing, laughing, cheering, cramming, picnicking, the Senior class of 1939 has spent three very busy, full years. Interesting years and important years they were, too—years of maturing friendship, years of good companionship, years spent with those who had something in common with them and who were able better than anyone else to understand their victories and defeats as they were experiencing the same triumphs and downfalls.

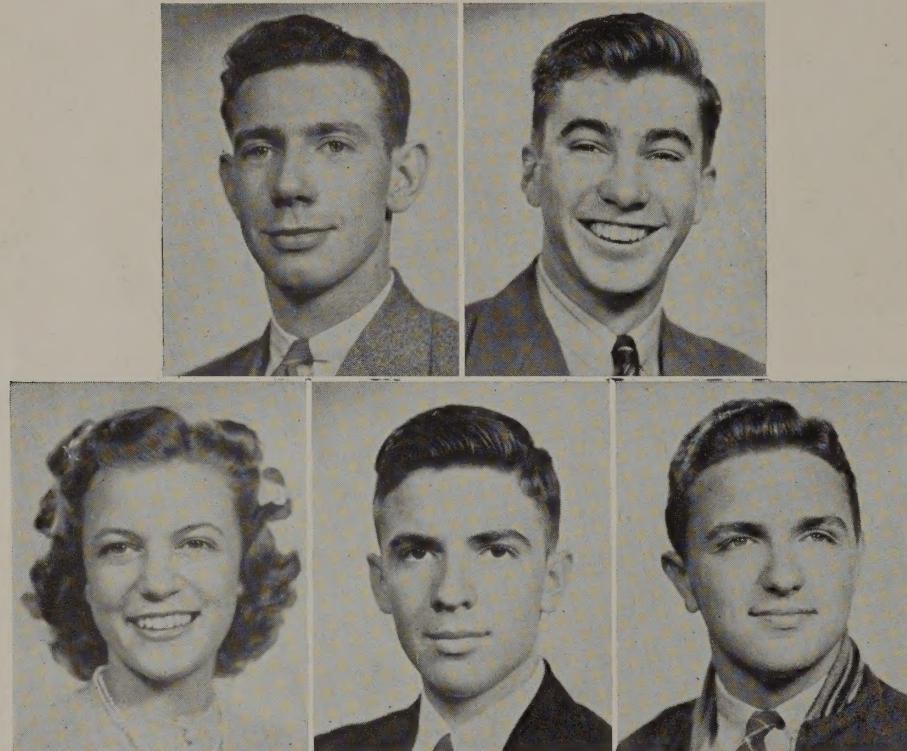

The day of glory came—the class of '39 were Seniors! The rosy light of the primrose path led them to the middle of the year. The joys of football games, Christmas holidays, and elections were past. The process of graduation and all that it entails was ahead. There were rings to select, invitations to order, caps and gowns to be measured for. Every day brought more things to do than there was time in which to do them. Committees to meet, fees to collect, colleges to be decided upon, pictures to be taken, examinations to study for—for these left very little time for lighter matters. They did manage to squeeze in that hilarious dress-upday, and an afternoon of dancing, and it was generally agreed that these events were definitely worth the effort.

Now all the excitement is over; there's no hurry, no rush, and the hardest thing to bear is that fact that the class of '39 are no longer Seniors. They are freshmen again—freshmen if they continue their studies in college, freshmen if they go to work, and above all, freshmen in the school of experience.

So the class of '39 has come and gone, and their history lies in the annals of Central's records.

—ELLEN COHEN

He played football for three years, basketball for two, and has been a track man two years. He has been vice-president of the H Club.

JULIAN NALL has held the office of Prosecuting Attorney on the student government. He served very ably as chief marshall, also as a captain in military, and as president of his home room. Julian was head of the invitation committee, and a member of the rifle team.

OLIVER PERRY was a captain in Military, attended a student convention, and was a member of the baseball team.

BILLY PHILLIPS has been president of the Honor Society, a council member, and defending attorney of the student body. He was the winner of original oratory in the National Forensic League district meet in 1938, and placed third in extemporaneous speaking this year.

GEORGANNE LITTLE has been council member, Red Cross representative, and treasurer of her home room. She was a delegate to the Green Convention, and is a member of the Honor Society.

MARY DEE LONDON is a member of the Honor Society. She has been in the opera the past two years, and has a leading role this year.

BOB SAUNDERS has received three letters in football and was president of his history club. Bobby was also captain of the basketball team, and was elected president of his home room six terms. He has served as an officer on the student government; he attended five conventions, and was captain in R.O.T.C.

STEVE TURNBULL ran in three student government elections he served twice in the capacity of both council member, and fire marshall. He was chairman of the projects committee, treasurer of the Senior Class, representative of the P.T.A. panel discussion, and vice-president of his home room. He is a member of the Honor Society, and has made the honor roll during the twelfth grade.

BILLY WEBB has been a council member, assistant manager of the football team, cheerleader for two years, and a first lieutenant in R.O.T.C. He had charge of the Candy Counter books, and is a member of the Honor Society.

LUCILLE LOVE was home room bank cashier, a member of the glee club, picture show ticket seller, and secretary of her home room.

MAJORIE HEARD has served her home room in many ways. She's been president of her room, delegate to the Gold Convention, Garden Club representative, and on the honor roll several times. She's also been a Council Member for two terms.

LORRAINE McMINN has served very ably as council member of her home room for three years. She is a member of the Honor Society.

KATHERINE MILLER has been reporter, council member, and president, and vice-president of her home room. She is also a member of the Honor Society.

BOB McRAE was president of student government, president of senior class, and also served as president of his home room. Bob was voted the sweetest and best all round boy in the senior class.

RICHARD WEINBERG has been president of the Science Club, reporter, and treasurer of his home room. He has the second highest scholastic rating among the boys of the Senior Class. He had the highest individual rating at the state speech contest, as he was winner of extemporaneous speaking, and took second prize in original oratory.

SARAH MOREHEAD has been secretary, council member, and a convention delegate from her home room. She was treasurer of the Photoplay Club, and a member of Science Club. She has a scholastic average of all A's, and is a member of the National Honor Society.

ANNIE LAURIE PEELER has been program chairman, Red Cross Representative, and vice-president of her home room. She was chairman of the scholarship committee of the Honor Society, program chairman of the Photoplay Club, and girls' vice-president of the Science Club.

BILLY WILLS has done an excellent job this year as major of the Central battalion of the R.O.T.C. He was senior member of the military advisory board, and has served as both vice-president and secretary of the Officer's Club.

DOROTHY PINSON has not been absent from school since the third grade which is quite a record. She is also a member of the Honor Society.

RYCE RUSSUM has been council member twice for his home room, captain of the magazine drive, monitor in the halls, and a member of the R.O.T.C. for three years.

CHUBBY ANDREWS has made a name for himself by his golf playing. He is the sergeant-at-arms for the senior class, Ass't Council Member, and a football player of great standing.

RALPH STEPHENS has been the bank cashier for the entire school which is quite an important job. He has also been a council member and a delegate to the Gold Convention.

JUNE TANN has taken part in many things at Central. She was a delegate to the Green and Gold conventions, a monitor for two years, a reporter on the Warrior since the tenth grade, a writer on the Senior Warrior, Ass't Council member and a member of the Glee Club.

JESSE WOOTEN has been on student government for five terms. He was Commissioner of Publicity, Treasurer, Boys' Vice President, and President. During his term as president Jesse no doubt accomplished more than any president on record. Through his efforts, new seats were installed in the auditorium, and many other important things were accomplished. Jesse also served as president of his home room for a term.

DOROTHY WURZBURG has entertained Central many times with her delightful readings. She has represented Central in numerous speech contests, and is a member of the N.F.L.

EMILY ROSE MICHEL has been the bank cashier for her room since the eleventh grade, captain of magazine drive, and has worked with Student Government.

“On the Life of a Senior”

Oh, what pains we seniors suffer!
Can anyone think of a life any tougher?
Lessons as usual get in our hair,
Along with the other things we must bear,
Such as class meetings taking away our spare time,
And class fees demanding our very last dime,
Speeches on why we should go to college,
When it's hard enough to get this wee knowledge,
Having to sit and “smile at the birdie,”
Which makes you feel like a monk with a gurdy,
Since you know that your picture will never
please you,
And all your friends are sure to tease you.
And constant urgings to get an ad,
Or else, S. L.'s “It'll be just too bad.”
But the hardest thing of all for me
Is trying to keep my voice on key
And follow the melody's intricate strain
Without causing Mr. Hawke too much pain!
With all these troubles on my mind,
Is it any wonder I fall behind,
And on my innocent head call down
The awful doom of a teacher's frown,
For having forgotten to read that play,
Or hand in my report on that certain day.
Oh me, wouldn't being a senior be fun,
If we weren't buried under a ton
Of other worries, work, and woe
That keep our poor brains on the go?
Yet, on the whole, I cannot say
That I didn't enjoy class dress-up day.
And it was fun in the halls strutting by
Freshies and sophomores, those small fry.
And maybe class meetings weren't so dull;

At least we managed to keep them quite full,
If not with business, then with noise
Causing Miss Cohen to use her poise,
And Bob to yell his poor throat hoarse—
Ah, now's the time to feel remorse!
Now's the time, this very minute,
To cherish the gaiety we well may covet,
When we are out in the world on our own,
And life takes on a more serious tone.
Oh, we may grumble and we may pout;
But let there not be a shadow of doubt
That we'll feel blue when we leave this year,
And many of us will shed a tear
When we say good-by to those happy hours
In this dearly beloved school of ours.
Oh Central, though now we must say farewell,
What words can we find that will truly tell
How much we have learned, how much we have gained,
From the lofty standards you've always maintained,
From teachers' efforts to teach us the things
That will help us meet whatever life brings,
From the friendships we've formed and the training we've had
In strengthening the good and uprooting the bad,
From the spirit of sportsmanship that prevails.
Oh, Central, we thank thee, thou guardian of youth;
In following thy precepts we'll strive for the truth.
For Central students there'll be no bars,
For they will seek for and search the stars.

Our Future

Tonight, we, the Class of '39, bid our last farewell to Central High School, receive our diplomas, a handshake and a blessing. We, who have looked forward to this night of graduation, now regret its passing and are not so eager to leave the school and faculty we have grown to know and respect.

As we sit here, a continuous train of reminiscences flashes across our memories. Friends we have made; tasks we have accomplished; lessons we have perhaps not liked, yet studied; teachers with whom we have worked; all have a place in this rapid chain of events and bring back thoughts of familiar surroundings.

Thus saddened by our leaving, yet encouraged and strengthened by ambition and determination, we shall soon remove these caps and gowns, being no longer High School seniors, but another class of graduates stepping cautiously forth into a new and unknown world.

As we prepare to go forth, even the most daring among us hesitate as we realize fully the precarious surroundings into which we are advancing.

We see a world of hostile nations striving for power, quarreling over territories—hovering on the brink of a major war.

Ethopia, Spain, and China have already felt the crushing force of devastating conflicts. Austria, Czechoslovakia, Bohemia, Lithuania, Memel, and Albania have felt the devouring greed of men mad with power. As democratic statesmen struggle valiantly for peace, the Rome-Berlin axis pushes its way into the richest lands of Europe. While British armaments and conscription are doubled and gas masks fitted on men, women, and children, foreign dictators meet to decide the fate of nations. Into such a world do we cautiously advance to meet the mightiest challenge ever offered a civilization—a challenge to save modern civilization from complete destruction.

The most progressive advance of science, business, and culture the world has ever witnessed is being threatened. Marvelous discoveries in the fields of medicine and science, new theories of law and government yet in the making, all the inventions of the twentieth century will be crushed if the next war is as terrible as it must inevitably be.

Not only do we see such alarming conditions in Europe, but focusing our attention on matters of unrest and disturbance nearer home, we see alarming conditions and international problems in South America. Alarming conditions? International problems? Yes, caused by Nazi and Fascist representatives who have gained a strong foothold in Latin American Countries. Communication and transportation between South America and Europe have been carefully built up by German agents schooled in "Organization and Colonization in the Americas." While Germany's South American cotton trade was doubled in 1938, Mexico signed oil trade agreements with Italy. These treaties were formerly consigned to Great Britain. Thus the trouble-makers of Europe provide for future colonies in the Americas.

These are the conditions of the outside world. Now let us determine the more immediate problems of our own nation. Just what may we expect to find when we examine the possibilities of making a successful start now or after college years?

Viewing our own country, we see it in the midst of the most radical experiment it has ever attempted. Overwhelmed by unemployment, faced with the problem of a very unbalanced budget, appropriating billions for defense, striving to make adjustments between big business, and the government, it is passing through the most precarious decade of its entire history. Never before have more dictatorial peace time pow-

Chatter

Say, did you hear about so-and-so?
 Well, I did too, and do you know
 She had a date with what's-his-name,
 Humph! I've caught on to her little game.
 Meow! the cats seem busy these days
 Hen sessions are becoming more the rage
 Gossip's spreading a mile a minute
 Though probably there isn't any truth in it.
 In order that seniors in years to come
 Will remember this class and all its fun
 We'd best write in a friendlier vein
 And pray the blessings of peace might reign.
 Our dignified classmates have had their share
 Of fun, good times, and friendship to spare
 Look at Billy Phillips and little Davis there
 Seems they're together just everywhere.
 And then there's another devoted pair
 Who get in a quiet-natured person's hair
 Marjorie Hall is so fond of Joe
 She broke his rib, her love to show.
 Don't forget the miss who proved her ability
 By romping down Beale Street with graceful agility
 Norma, ole girl, we'll admit you're no pill

Monaghan's okay, just ask Sallis Hill!
 Ah! a fanciful bit has come to light
 Jitterbugs, hearken, this will delight!
 No other than Jesse, our dignified lad,
 Was seen gaily trucking—not bad, not bad.
 The fairer sex not to be outdone
 Decided to join in on all the fun
 But Amelia Cocke after swinging away
 Could hardly walk the following day.
 Goofus McRae with the greatest of ease
 Was waltzing at lunch with his friend Louise,
 The amazing part of it was that they
 Were the only two who were dancing that day.
 It seems Sugar Sherman to Buddy's alarm
 Upon Frank Boswell has centered her charm.
 For all the time you'll see these two
 Together going the places they do.
 Often we'll glance at this little book
 Laughing, remembering as we look,
 At Johnny and Mary, and what they've done
 For Ole Central Hi, as her fondest sons.
 But now it's time for our chatter to end.
 You pass on this word to all your friends
 Love this school all the while you're here
 For when you leave it, you'll miss it, I fear.

GOSSIP

This senior Warrior draws to a close three years of hard work and many happy memories such as Cecelia Hill's happy face, shining on everyone, especially Bill Wills and Tommy Samuels.

Anita Fonville was also a pretty sight, trudging the halls of dear ole Central. Richard Gruenewood thinks so anyway, and he wishes Chubby Andrews wasn't of the same opinion.

Marguerite Bigger and Bob Allen are a devoted pair we can't fail to mention.

Long to be remembered will be Richard Allen following Dorothy Flake everywhere. Dorothy Sharpe also has an ardent admirer that reclines himself all over her locker in the person of Bobby Saunders.

Billy Goff has the definite characteristic of "dogging." He was truly interested when he inquired Betty Trickett's phone number. A very "Tricky" gal. No?

The definition of "bum" has been requested—Well, upon looking it up—it covered several pages—therefore, we will endeavor to offer original examples; Larry Mc, Lynn Aaron, Tom Jackson, George Jones, and Frank Boswell.

Jean Magee really gets around. Jack Gordon would be satisfied with Jean any way, shape, or form. Tanner Davis is in Jack's class when it comes to that. For Anne Adams strictly "Gets" Tanner and vice versa.

Frances Stephens is the sweetest and friendliest in the senior class. Kemper W. and Albert Fulmer are striving hard.

President's Address

Members of the Board of Education, Mr. Superintendent, Principals, Members of the Faculty of Central High, Parents, and Friends:

It gives every member of this class nothing less than a thrill as such a large group of people show their interest in us tonight. I can assure you that an audience of this size will be a pleasant memory for us all of our high school days. Speaking for this class as its president, let me express our utmost gratitude for your presence at our graduation tonight which represents the completion of twelve years' work in various schools. During the past three years we have attended Central High School for the purpose of receiving our advanced education.

What does it mean to us to be a graduate of Central? It means that the knowledge we have acquired has been under the supervision of a learned, talented, and efficient faculty, headed by our beloved principal, Mr. Chas. P. Jester. Not only have members of this faculty given us an opportunity to receive a splendid high school education, but they have also befriended us and taken personal interest in many of us. Through the examples that they have set and the practical lessons that they have taught, they have better prepared us to confront the problems which we are sure to meet as we enter the life that lies ahead of us.

To be a graduate of Central also means we have learned to make true friends and shall have pleasant memories of these companions made in high school. In the process of mingling with the type of student Central produces, we have developed more pleasing personality and higher character. We have enjoyed the comradeship of our classmates by playing a game of ball in our leisure or by attending parties and dances during the week-end, and like other classes that have gone before us, we, too, have had our high school romances. Certainly in the future we shall look back with joy on the pleasures spent with the Central High associates.

While this class has enjoyed these pleasures, I feel sure it has realized the traditions set by former classes of Central and has lived up to these traditions. Central has sent a team of fighting Warriors into every athletic competition during this year. These Warriors even captured the State of Tennessee track title. All of these teams were lead by, and largely composed of, Seniors. A superb military battalion, with a majority of Senior officers, set a fine precedent in the annual government inspection. Our Student Participation in Government reached its peak this term under a president who is a member of this class. Our speech and Latin departments received recognition in the State Speech and Latin tournament. And in many other ways have members of this class given their all to build and keep up the reputation of Central.

Tonight, or in the next few days, our parents or some friend will probably ask us, "Well, are you glad to have been graduated from high school?" Proudly we shall reply, "When I received that diploma, I experienced the happiest moment of my life." But soon, very soon, this happiness will change to sorrow—sorrow because we shall never return to classes in the school that has been instrumental in formulating our knowledge and character.

Along with this happiness and sorrow, we shall have the secure feeling of knowing that however successfull we may become in the future, we shall owe it all to the institution that has developed within us ambition with honor, and courage with determination.

This institution is our Alma Mater, Central High School.—Bob McRae.

The Operetta

This year Professor Hawke will climax almost a year's work when he presents "The Pirates of Penzance" on June 3 at Ellis Auditorium. This is one of the ever popular Gilbert and Sullivan's most brilliant works.

The cast includes:

Frederick, pirate Apprentice	Wade Nowlin
His nurse maid, Ruth	Gene Dickson
Mabel	Sara Buchanan
Edith	Peggy Miller
Kate	Mary Dee London
Isabelle	Dickey Moss
Major Gen. Stanley	Robert Kessler
Samuel	Vernon Ingram

This will be the tenth operetta that Mr. Hawke has presented. All the previous ones have been extremely successful, and have been well supported by the student body.

The story, based around pirates, has for the lead, Wade Nowlin, who is the pirate Frederick. He was reared by a nurse maid, Ruth. She was told to apprentice him to a pilot. Misunderstanding the latter word as "pirate," she apprenticed him to pirates until his twenty-first birthday. Ruth now falls in love with Frederick.

When landing on shore one day from his pirate ship, a host of beautiful girls greeted him. He was somewhat frightened, but he made friends with Mable, and they in turn fell in love with each other.

As usual, it was a case of love at first sight and Mable and Frederick are making plans for a happy future when the pirates reappear and capture the rest of the girls. Soon Major-General Stanley arrives upon the scene. He quickly sizes up the situation and tells the pirates that he is an orphan, for he knows that the pirates always spare orphans, because they are orphans themselves. They reluctantly free the girls, and as the police round up the pirates the opera has in the course of time its usual happy ending.

Seniors taking part in outstanding roles are:

Sara Buchanan, Peggy Miller, Mary Dee London, Dickey Moss, Robert Kessler, and Vernon Ingram. Much of the chorus is also composed of senior class members.

Student Government

Student government in the past fifteen years, has existed as an important and necessary feature of Central. Since its establishment in the spring of 1923, it has become the most influential and effective organization in this high school; this is attributed to capable and efficient leadership.

"Resolved: That Student Government should be adopted in Central High." This was the issue of a furious debate in 1923, as a number of people were doubtful as to whether this plan would be a success. The interest and enthusiasm the debate aroused resulted in a general assembly for discussion of the matter. Because of heated arguments, nothing was accomplished. The following day, the leaders of the affirmative and negative sides of the question met at a formal convention.

So sincere were the advocates of Student Government, in the belief that the system would be a great asset to the school, they convinced the student body by a large majority vote, that the plan should be adopted.

Perhaps the advocates of the establishment hoped that Student Government would give the students a better understanding and broader conception of democracy and citizenship, and enable them to face responsibility and leadership. Although the system is not perfect, and there are criticisms to be offered, realization of what school life would be without student government does not appeal to us.

The students who are elected to the offices of the Student Government are chosen for their ability to lead and to serve, and for their character.

Humorous Bob McRae definitely proved to be a successful President in the fall of 1938; because of the splendid service rendered during his administration, he was elected President of the Senior Class this spring. Other energetic and capable students who served as officers in the fall of 1938 were:

As Boy's Vice-President, Jesse Wooten; as Girl's Vice-President, Tommie Jean Haygood; as Secretary, Frances Stephens; as Treasurer, Larry McCormick; as Defending Attorney, Bobby Davis; as Prosecuting Attorney, John Cawthon; as Commissioner of Publicity, S. L. Kopald; and as Commissioner of Social Activities, Rogers Beasley.

These officers were deserving of the honor and privilege of serving, for they worked conscientiously.

Jesse Wooten was an excellent choice for president at mid-term elections. Jesse will complete his term of office with the assurance that his work deserves recognition of fine leadership. Admiration, too should go to Hal Gerber, as boy's vice-president; Martha Earp as girl's vice-president; Frances Stevens as secretary; S. L. Kopald as treasurer, Billy Phillips as defending attorney; Julian Nall as prosecuting attorney; Bill Sledge as Commissioner of social activities; and John Spain as commissioner of publicity.

Unfortunately, we could not all be officers, in the great institution of Student Government, but we have all been citizens.

At this eventful time in our lives, graduation, the importance and necessity of leadership and responsibility is more evident than at any other time which we have known. It is the sincere hope that Student Government has benefited you, and helped to establish those qualities in your character.

Red Cross

Just completing its second successful year at Central, the Junior Red Cross has a 100 per cent membership of the home rooms. Faculty advisers are Miss Raines and Miss Young. At meetings of the chapter, a representative from each home room is present.

Presiding over the meetings of the Junior Red Cross is a well known senior, Bill Banks. Bill was a delegate to the national convention in 1938, and also attended this year's convention in Washington, D. C., although not as a delegate. The secretary of the chapter is another senior, Mary Virginia Smith.

Projects which were started last year have been continued. The school voted to continue aiding the Ravenscroft School. The work with the blind has included the making of braille Easter cards. Central's chapter now has two braille slates that are used in making the raised symbols which the blind are able to read.

Other activites have included a beauty contest among the boys at Central. The proceeds of this entertainment provided expenses for the two delegates to Washington. A program, under the direction of Bill Banks, was presented at the Home for Incurables. Dickie Moss, well known senior, had an always appreciated part in this entertainment.

The Science Club

The Science Club was organized in Central High School to instill in the students a scientific viewpoint on all modern subjects. Every Thursday the Science Club holds its meetings, when lectures are given on scientific research and new inventions.

Once a month the Science Club takes a field trip. These trips, usually to some nearby factory, have proved to be entertaining as well as educational.

Graduating members of the Science Club are Richard Weinberg, Frances Stephens, Evelyn Daniels, Kemper Waddell, Julian Tribble, H. D. Dupree, Annie Laurice Peeler, Jim Patrick, Alan Wolfe, Jane Bohlken, and Mary Hunter.

The Camera Club

The Camera Club is headed by George Mahan, Central's amateur photographer. Other officers are:

Betty Kirby—Vice President.

Tom Goswick—Secretary-Treasurer.

Bill Eades—Advertising Manager.

This is one of the newer organizations of the school. Feeling that none of the other clubs were just what they wanted, two ardent camera enthusiasts, George Mahan and Tom Goswick, received Mr. Jester's permission and set to work. Although they had many obstacles to overcome, these two boys worked earnestly; and finally, after Miss Moreno and Miss Reiter had consented to become their sponsors, the first meeting was held.

The object of the club is to promote interest in taking pictures of the school and to better acquaint the students with the principles of photography.

Pictures were taken of various students and displayed in the main hall for the benefit of the student body. Plans have been made to take pictures of next year's athletic events and show them to the pupils of Central in the same manner.

Although the membership has been small, there have been several enjoyable meetings, one of the most interesting of which was the informal talk by George Stokes, Commercial Appeal's late aviator photographer. Next year there are to be other educational meetings, and it is hoped by everyone that the Camera Club will be bigger and better.

Senior members are George Mahan and Bill Eades.

CENTRAL HIGH WARRIOR

---

The Honor Society

The Sigma Lambda Chi Chapter of the National Honor Society was organized in Central High School to promote character, leadership, scholarship, and service. Outstanding members of the student body who excel in the above qualifications are semi-annually initiated.

Upon their initiation, the new candidates are given an outing. This affair serves as a get-together between the old and new members.

Meetings of the Honor Society are held the first and third Tuesday of every month.

In addition to its various activities each term, the Honor Society prepares an honor banquet for those students who have made the term honor roll.

The faculty assists the Honor Society in the form of seven faculty advisers. This year's faculty advisers are Miss Seffins, Miss Gladding, Miss McGrath, Miss Woods, Miss Willingham, Miss Clinton, and Miss Young.

Many of the members of the Honor Society are graduating this year. Senior members of the Honor Society are: Billy Phillips, president first term; S. L. Kopald, vice president first term; Gladys Moore, secretary, first term; Francis Stephens, treasurer, first term; Ellen Cohen, president, second term; Newton Allen, vice president, second term; Dorothy Pinson, secretary, second term; Dorothy Gill, treasurer, second term; Chester Allen; Newton Allen; Bill Banks; Jane Bayliss; Bessie Bloomfield; Jane Bohlken; Frances Cash; John Cawthon; Ellen Cohen; Hazel Bratton; Rosalind Du Brovner; Mary Wayne Dupree; Hannah Flattau; Arthur Friedman; Dorothy Gill; Wesley Goyer; Louise Hatcher; Tommie Jean Hayood; Marjorie Heard; Mary Margaret Hillis; Mary Hunter; Peggye Hurley; Ruth Irby; Hal James; Joe Levy; Georgianne Little; Mary Dee London; Fern Lutts; Maxine Meyer; Lizette McCall; Marianne McCalla; Jean McLain; Lorraine McMinn; Ann Middleton; Harold Miller; Katherine Miller; Sarah Moorehead; Gladys

The Garden Club

The Garden Club, one of the most important in Central, is composed of teachers. Miss Vermona Wilson is chairman for this year.

Each year a magazine drive is conducted under the auspices of the Garden Club and the student government. In this year's drive, which was held in October, more magazines were collected than ever before. This may be attributed to the fact that Miss Wilson spent many hours of hard labor in helping to collect the magazines and in urging the students to bring old magazines from their homes. A total of $127 was cleared, with Miss Wilson's senior home room, 105, winning. Since this room brought more magazines than any other in the school, a black-gum tree will be planted in their honor.

Another of the Garden Club's annual projects is the membership campaign. Each home room, after one dollar is paid for dues, receives an emblem. This year's emblem, which was posted on the door of all the rooms that joined, was the pink dogwood. All but two home rooms joined the club.

Of the 127 cleared during the magazine drive, 90 was spent on a new unit of planting, shielding the parking area from the school grounds and one tree, a water oak, was set out. The remaining money will be spent for upkeep throughout the summer.

Many years ago, J. H. Highberger, one of the city's expert landscape gardeners, drew up the plans which have been followed closely ever since.

Our garden club is becoming a tradition in Central High School, and it is hoped by both the students and the teachers that The Garden Club will always be as active as it is now.

Girl Reserves

The Girl Reserves, although only recently organized, has become one of Central's most important clubs. A part of the international Y.W.C.A. organization, the local chapter has a membership of about fifty girls. Faculty advisers are Miss Polack, Miss Rather, and Miss Graves.

Officers who are seniors are as follows: President, Beverly Black; Vice-President, Pauline Howell; Secretary, Jane Tate; Treasurer, Peggye Hurley; Program Chairman, Jean Butler; Publicity Chairman, Natalie Herzburg.

The program of the Girl Reserves has centered about vocational planning and recreational activities. During the spring, a number of fine speakers have addressed an audience of girls of the entire school. First was Frances Cunningham, Educational Director of John Gaston Hospital, who told of the preparation and training necessary to become a nurse, and of various positions open to a nurse, ranging from the department store to the airliner. Mrs. Francis Howard, formerly at Lowenstein's book department, spoke on opportunities found in department store work, from advertising to buying. The third visitor was Mrs. Julius Goodman, of the Board of Education, who spoke on "Is there a magic touch?" The magic touch is, of course, a good personality.

Other activities, centering around healthful recreation, during the winter included handicraft, camping, and gym work. As spring drew near, outdoor activities, such as tennis, golf, horseback riding, and swimming were enjoyed.

The "H" Club

In 1911, through a suggestion of John Rouhlac, Central High football captain, the Central High "H" Club was formed. The sponsors of the "H" Club were Mrs. Annie E. Cooney, Miss Florence Schloss, Miss Frances Cunningham, and Miss Elizabeth Haszinger. This Club, the oldest organization in the school, is still one of the most active. The membership consists of all students who have earned a letter in any of the four major sports: football, baseball, basketball, and track.

Besides its regular activities this year, the "H" Club has entertained the student body with several dances and a comical skit entitled "Poky Huntus." Starring in this production were Larry McCormick—Captain John Smith, and Fleet Edwards as "Pokey".

A remarkable effect the "H" Club has on the morale of the school is the preservation of school spirit. This is accomplished by the willingness of the "H" Club in backing all types of athletics. Because of this feeling, the members of the "H" Club have been among the most respected and the most outstanding of the students of Central High.

In this year's graduating class, there are many "H" Club members. Graduating members and the sports they have received letters in are as follows:

Lynn Aaron, president—football, basketball, baseball*, track.

Tom Ross, vice president—football, baseball.

Tom Jackson, secretary-treasurer—football, track.

William Andrews—football.

Frank Boswell—track.

Robert Bradford—baseball.

John Cawthon—football, baseball, track*.

Fleet Edwards—football, baseball.

Billy Goff—football, track.

Frank Hiserodt—basketball, track.

Robert Jacobs—track.

S. L. Kopald—basketball.

Joe Meek—football.

Larry McCormick — football*, basketball, track.

Bill Regenold—track.

Bob Saunders—football, basketball.

Carl Smith—football.

James Stevenson—track.

Allen Townsend—football.

Mercer West—track.

*Captain.

The Photoplay Club

In 1933, under the auspices of Miss Stanton, Miss Wilson, and Miss Gladding, the Photoplay Club was organized in Central High School. This first attempt began in the classes of these teachers. As a result of these class experiments, the actual club began as a suggestion of one of the boys.

The purposes of the Photoplay Club are to learn more about moving pictures, and to encourage the rest of the student body to attend better pictures.

Among the officers of the club is a program chairman. It is the duty of this person to plan the activities of the club throughout his term of office. These activities include attending pictures and discussing them, bringing good pictures to the school auditorium, visiting a projection booth, making a newsreel, having parties and picnics, comparing books and plays with pictures made from them, studying the voices of actors, giving programs over the radio, and others.

In this year's graduating class there are six Photoplay Club members. These members are Ellen Cohen, president, fall term; Rosalind DuBrowner, president, spring term; Bernard Cohn, vice-president, fall term; Miriam Davis, Dorothy Gray, and Shirley Wallace.

Our Future

ers been granted the president. The entire term of President Roosevelt has been one enormous experiment to regain prosperity as defeats and triumphs, successes and failures have run side by side.

Thus we see the world into which we step so cautiously. We look forward into the uncertain future and see these problems with which we will soon have to cope. We see years ahead in which no position is assured, no future predicted, yet it is for us to go forth and prove our worth. It is our job to prepare ourselves not only to solve the problems of today and tomorrow, but to carry on the progress made in science, business, and government. Thus is presented this challenge to youth. A challenge to live, earn, and succeed—A challenge to find security in a world of insecurity.

The Class of '39 is gathered together as a group for the last time. From here we will scatter to all parts of our country—perhaps the world. Wherever we go, whatever we do, we must not forget our years of experience and association at Central High School. The aid and guidance in education and character building that we have received here will be the foundation on which we will build in later years.

Classmates: Let us step into the future with a determined stride, a stride inspired by the success of former Central graduating classes, a stride inspired by the desire to overcome the obstacles of a modern unstable world, a stride that will uphold the fine traditions and high ideals of Central High School. That is our task. That is the challenge that we must take up.—Newton Allen.

The Regular Warrior

Under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Nolan, Miss Rosa Levy, and Miss Mamie Reiter, the editorial staff of the past year has successfully edited and distributed an edition every other week.

The editorial staff, appointed semi-annually, is composed of an editor-in-chief, a feature editor, a news editor, a personals editor, a sports, and staff reporters. This staff, aided by the business staff and the home room reporters, have completed an excellent year.

It is the duty of the home room reporter, selected semi-annually, to obtain home room news and supervise the distribution of the Warriors in each home room.

Many of the members of this term's staff are graduating.

Those graduating are co-editors-in-chief, Ellen Cohen and Geraldine Smith; personals editor, Amelia Cocke; business manager, Dave Schatz; advertising manager, Arthur Grehan, and floor manager, Charlotte Kin-cannon.
